About

Trapped is a stop motion animation fully produced and captured by the team of 4 over 12 days.

This video is our take on the given prompt "Gaming to save your life."

We converted our studio into the set for the shoot.

Set 1

Gore pile

The scene open with this shot where the little human is sittin on a pile of gore.

Set 2

The moving set

This set consists of 3 traps that are to be dodged by the characters

The entire set along with walls & flooring are movable

The spot lights follow the movement of the set in everyframe

All props are made by hand

Set 3

The Spike trap

This set up is where the climax of the story is set.

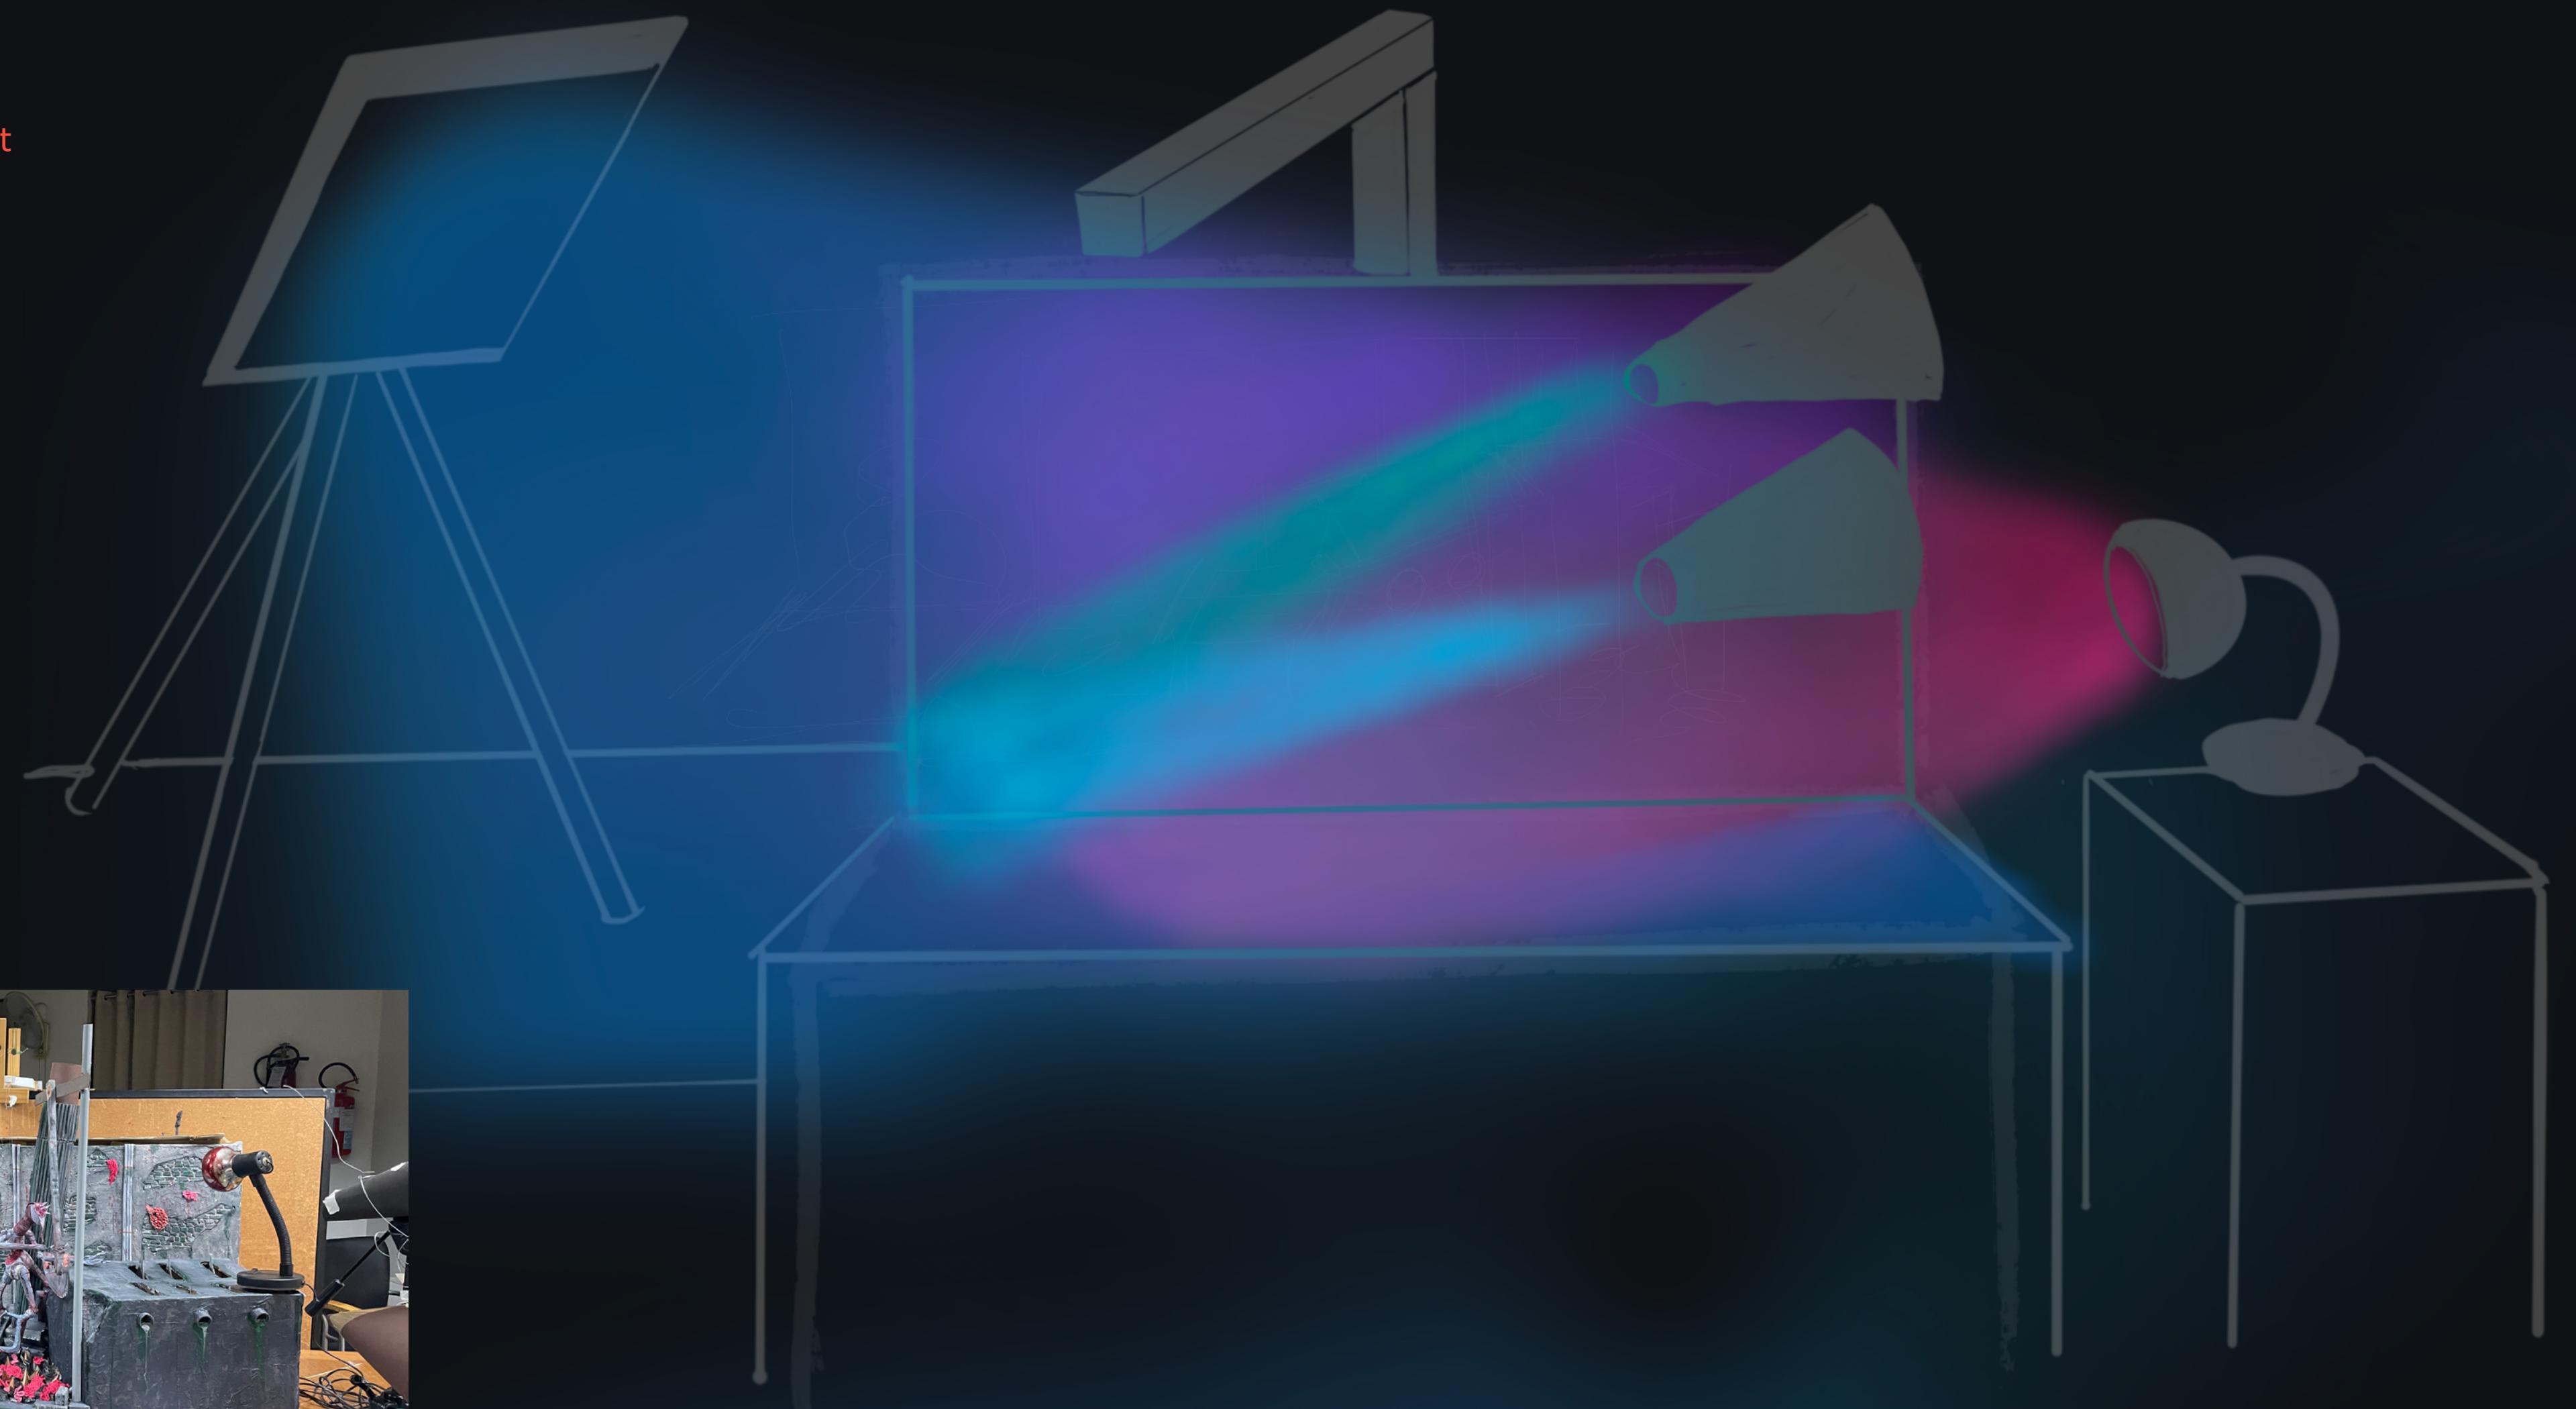

There are two walls on the side from where spikes can protrude when a button is pressed.

It is also very deep ditch where the characters fall

Lighting

Shooting in darkness with 5 light sources

Monster

Character #1

Small child

Character #2

Shooting

Cancelling light

At a point, the background had become very pink, so we made use of green and blue lights to counter the effect

Spot light

Both characters needed constant light to highlight from background

Monster

Manipulating the monster character was challenging and needed a fixture to support the stances with some freedom for limited movement

Onion peeling

We used the software called AnimaShooter for clicking the sequential photos to reduce error

Aaaannnnnnndddd, It's a wrap!!

Thank You
